Port KC received one additional question and request for clarification with respect to the referenced Request for Qualifications. That question and Port KC's response thereto is as follows:

1. To allow for a more visually appealing SOQ with page spreads, would Port KC allow the sections between the tabs to be printed double-sided as long as the total number of printed pages does not exceed 30 pages?

Tab Pages and the back side of the 30 content pages (excluding covers, binding and up to 6 tabs) may include graphics including photos, charts, maps as long as such pages include no more than a brief description or title utilizing less than 15 words per page. If a more than 15 words are needed then additional descriptions would need to be included on the facing page or proceeding page. In no case should content pages included in the total of 30 that are large than 8 ½ x 11 include printing of any like or kind on the rear of the page.
